1 Rules and Regulations

All Students entering for the full commercial course are expected to be regular in their attendance upon the daily sessions, unless duly excused from the same.

2 Reports of Non-Attendance, Tardiness, etc.

All absence from, and tardiness, at morning and afternoon Roll-call and Recitations, are noted in the Register, and reports of the same will be sent to parents monthly, except in cases where the student is responsible only to himself.

3 Disorderly Conduct.

All disorderly conduct is strictly forbidden, and this category are reckoned loud talking, walking about the room without business or permission; making unnecessary noise; lounging about the door; marking on the walls either in the school room or public passage way; misusing furniture; unnecessary shuffling or stamping of the feet; and all species of demoralization resulting from idleness, indifference or malice.

Examinations and Promotions

All students pursuing the complete course will be required to pass the regular examinations in each of the several grades before promotion to the next; and no student will receive a Certificate who has not honorably passed these examinations, and given evidence of his thorough comprehension of the duties of Accountantship.

Graduation

All students, upon completion of the course, and a satisfactory examination thereof, will be entitled to the Certificate of the College, unless disqualified by acts of insubordination or other specified misdemeanor.

In this work the authors have aimed at a combination of the most practical modes of keeping accounts, adapted to various departments of business, and have brought to bear upon it the experience gained as practical accountants in connection with some of the most extensive business houses in Canada, and as teachers of the subject for many years in their Business College. Address by the Students to the Principals of Ontario Commercial College.

At the close of the exercises at Ontario Commercial College, on Thursday last, the students composing the graduating class presented to the Principals the following address, expressing the high estimate in which these gentlemen and the College are held:—

Messrs. W. R. Robinson, and J. W. Johnson, Principals of Ontario Commercial College, Belleville:

DEAR SIRS,—We, the students now about graduating from Ontario Commercial College, before leaving for our respective homes, desire to express our heartfelt thanks for the painstaking and unceasing care bestowed upon us during the course of our studies.

We wish to state that, in our opinion, the course of training at this College imparts a thorough knowledge of the theory and practice of book-keeping and accounts and a thorough commercial education.

We also desire to congratulate you on the honourable place which Ontario Commercial College occupies, standing as it does, at the head of the Commercial Colleges of Canada.

We will, we assure you, through life retain pleasing recollections of the time spent within its walls.

Praying that the Almighty may abundantly bless you, we beg to subscribe ourselves:

DISOLUTION OF PARTNERSHIP.—As will be seen by advertisement elsewhere, the firm of S. G. Beatty, and Co., proprietors of Ontario Business College, has been dissolved by mutual consent. Mr. Beatty who founded what is now the most successful and popular institution of the kind in Canada, retires, and the College will be carried on by Messrs. Johnson and Robinson. These gentlemen have had entire charge of the classes and business for the past two years, and have introduced several new features which are widely recognized as great improvements, among them being the formation and management of Joint Stock Companies. They are thorough accountants and teachers, and we are sure Ontario Business College will continue to prosper under their directions. Ontario

The New Canadian Counting House Book-keeping.

We have been favored with a copy of the above from the publishers, Messrs. S. G. Beatty & Co. The book is the joint production of Messrs. S. G. Beatty and J. W. Johnson, of the Ontario Business College, Belleville, and is well worthy the careful perusal of all who take an interest in keeping accounts correctly in whatever business they may be engaged.

The above is a third edition of the Canadian Accountant, containing the contents of former volumes and much other valuable information which we have never found in other treatises of like description, but which to all who have the charge of books is nevertheless of great value. As for instance, the manner of writing off bad debts, which has unfortunately become a necessity to book-keepers of late years, the manner of making cross entries and much other information of like description, as well as a thorough course of book-keeping. It also contains a sample of law forms in common use in business—forms for the use of cheese factories, which they will find very useful, as factorymen were much in need of a simple and concise form of keeping their accounts, also forms for the keeping of accounts in nearly every branch of business as well as much other information which will be found very useful to an engaged in business pursuits.

The book is well printed and bound and will fill a want long felt in the business community. It ought to be in the hands of every business man and mechanic, and more especially of every book-keeper.

THE ACCOUNTANTS MEET AND ORGANIZE A SOCIETY.

The accountants of the city had a meeting today in the Mechanics' Institute, with the object of organizing a society and considering the form of application for an act of incorporation of what will be known as the "Association of Accountants of Montreal."

Mr. James Doynt occupied the chair and Mr. A. E. Riddell acted as Secretary. A resolution declaring the advisability of organizing a society of accountants to enable the profession to give expression to their opinions on questions and laws incident to the business of their profession, to select parties to whom the courts might refer accounts, and ultimately to form a board to qualify accountants, &c., was submitted and unanimously carried. Some discussion ensued on a form of application for a charter, which was submitted for the consideration of the meeting. One clause of this stated one object of the proposed Society to be to raise the status of the profession. An objection to this was that the profession was already sufficiently high-souled. Ultimately, it was decided to refer the matter of the form of application for the act of incorporation to a committee composed of Messrs. Lajoie, Beauregard, Moffat, P. S. Ross, John Fair, A. F. Riddell and Thomas Darling to report at a future meeting.

THE CANADIAN ACCOUNTANT, by S. G. Beatty and J. W. Johnson, principals of Ontario Business College, Belleville, Ont. This work professes to be a practical system of book-keeping containing a complete elucidation of the science of accounts by the latest and most approved methods, business correspondence, mercantile forms, and other valuable information, designed for the use of counting houses, business colleges, academies and high schools. The value of such a work is undoubted, and the popularity of this one is evident from the fact that it has reached its third edition, a revised and enlarged one. Witness June 1879

Book Notice.

"THE CANADIAN COUNTING HOUSE BOOK-KEEPING," by S. G. Beatty and J. W. Johnson, Principals of Ontario Business College, Belleville: Third revised and enlarged edition: - 300 royal octavo pages, published by the College, price $2.00.

The publishers, Messrs. G. S. Beatty & Co., Ontario Business College, Belleville, have favoured us with a copy of the above work which is the third edition of the "Canadian Accountant" that has been long and favourably known as the ablest work on book-keeping and accounts published. The former editions seem to leave nothing wanting, but in the present book we find such practical and valuable additions as "Entries for Renewals of Notes and Acceptances," "The Correction of Errors by Cross Entries," "Method of Writing off Bad Debts," "Condensed System of Book-keeping for Retail Dealers," etc., etc.

The work is divided into three parts: Part 1st contains a complete and comprehensive course of book-keeping illustrated by means of examples of sufficient variety to make it easy of comprehension. Part 2nd is intended as a business course for advanced pupils, and comprehends the most practical forms of keeping accounts according to the methods adopted by the best business houses. It includes Wholesale and Retail Merchandising, Manufacturing, Settlement of Estates, Steam-boating, Municipal Book-keeping Dealings with Banks, etc., etc. Part 3rd contains the forms of Business Papers in general use, and the principal laws which govern them, full instructions on Commercial Correspondence with a great variety of Model Business Letters, short practical methods of computing Interest, Percentage, Partial Payments, Equation of Accounts, Partnership Settlements, etc., etc., besides valuable examples worked in the various kinds of measurements required to be made by Lumbermen, Mechanics and Farmers.

From the above it will be seen how comprehensive are the contents of this volume, and yet the authors are so clear that those unacquainted with book-keeping may master the science by its aid, while the accomplished accountant and experienced merchant will find it a most valuable book for reference. The work is eminently practical and easily understood, and the reason is that the authors are experienced men who understand both the theory and the practice of what they write about. It contains 300 pages. The printing and binding are superior to anything we have seen before in works of this kind. We most heartily commend the work to our readers. It will be mailed, post paid, to any address on receipt of $2 by S. G. Beatty & Co., Ontario Business College, Belleville, Ontario.

—The third edition of the "Canadian Accountant" has just been issued by Messrs. Beatty & Johnson. The book contains about 300 pages, large 8 vo. Accountants and book-keepers will find in its contents much that is of special interest to them. Correct methods of book-keeping, with examples of the forms of accounts; forms of notes, bills, and commercial documents; and a number of practical computations.

Wrig BOOK KEEPER. THE CANADIAN ACCOUNTANT—THE LAST EDITION.

Messrs. Beatty & Johnson, of the Belleville Commercial College, have issued the third edition of 'The Canadian Accountant,' a publication specially prepared by them for general use, for it value has been appreciated by others than the students of their College, and its meritorious character has endorsement of the educationalists and commercial men of the Province. The Accountant contains a complete elucidation of the science of accounts by the latest and most approved methods, business correspondence, mercantile forms, and other desirable information. The publishers very correctly remark in the preface:

"No sensible man now disputes the importance of book-keeping. The time has long since gone by when a haphazard system of recording business transactions, will answer the requirements of men engaged in trade and commerce. The magnitude and variety of these engagements are such that no dependence upon mere memoranda, or an unsystematic method of keeping accounts, will enable an individual to calculate with accuracy his gains or losses, and so order his affairs that he may know at any time how he stands with his debtors and creditors. There must be a system, and that system must be reduced to a science as invariable in its results as the problems of Euclid. Is such a thing possible in the practice and theory of book-keeping? It is possible, and its possibility is not only thoroughly established in the commercial world, but it is made imperative in the qualification of those who expect to compete in the great struggle of business men."

In the Accountant the authors have aimed at a combination of the most practical modes of keeping accounts, and have brought to bear upon it the experience gained as practical business men and teachers. The work is progressive in character, and the student is led by easy transitions from simple transactions to the most intricate exercises to be met with in business. The book is divided into three parts. The first section contains a complete course of book-keeping, illustrated in such a manner as to make it comprehensible, the second part is designed for advanced pupils, and gives an understanding of the forms of book-keeping adopted by the best business houses; and the third part contains the forms of business paper in general use, and the principles which govern them. In short, the book will be found

The New Canadian Counting House Book-keeping.

We have been favored with a copy of the above from the publishers, Messrs. S. G. Beatty & Co. The book is the joint production of Messrs. S. G. Beatty and J. W. Johnson, of the Ontario Business College, Belleville, and is well worthy the careful perusal of all who take an interest in keeping accounts correctly in whatever business they may be engaged.

The above is a third edition of the Canadian Accountant, containing the contents of former volumes and much other valuable information which we have never found in other treatises of like description, but which to all who have the charge of books is nevertheless of great value. As for instance, the manner of writing off bad debts, which has unfortunately become a necessity to book-keepers of late years, the manner of making cross entries and much other information of like description, as well as a thorough course of book-keeping. It also contains a sample of law forms in common use in business—for the use of cheese factories, which they will find very useful, as factorymen were much in need of a simple and concise form of keeping their accounts, also forms for the keeping of accounts in nearly every branch of business as well as much other information which will be found very useful to an engaged in business pursuits.

The book is well printed and bound and will fill a want long felt in the business community. It ought to be in the hands of every business man and mechanic, and more especially of every book-keeper.

of incalculable assistance to those who are training for commercial life, and even many expert accountants can learn something of advantage to them by a perusal of the publication. It is the work of much toil, and the result of efforts which have never been so successfully directed in a similar way. The Accountant is clearly printed (by the Globe) and handsomely bound in cloth. It is a credit to Messrs. Beatty & Johnson.

Lecture to Students.

DEAR ONTARIO,—Yesterday afternoon the students of the Ontario Commercial College were entertained to a lecture by Prof. Macoun, of Albert College, the subject being "Manitoba and Travels in the North-west." The subject was handled well, and was much enjoyed by the boys. Prof. Macoun pointed out the different places of interest, and showed that Manitoba would yet be a rich country. He urged the young men to "go west," and that "what ever their hands found to do, to do it with all their might." He concluded an able and instructive lecture by telling the young men that there was no such word as fail.

It was then moved by Mr. W. H. N. Shannon, seconded by Mr. H. Anderson, that a vote of thanks be tendered Prof. Macoun. Carried.

STUDENT.

* * * We will only add to the above that the Professor bore willing testimony to the appreciative intelligence of his audience yesterday afternoon, and predicts a bright future for young men who take such a deep interest in their studies and the battle of life before them. Ontario Commercial College has always boasted of a superior class of students, but never before in the history of the institution was there a more respectable and intelligent class of young men under instruction.—

ED. ONTARIO.

PORT STANLEY, Nov. 14/99

An Interesting Budget of Local Events, FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT.

The village is alive to the necessity of more manufactories, and every exertion is being made to induce the Company to build the rolling mills here. An interview with one of the parties concerned was of a very satisfactory nature. Location will do more for our port than for some of our sister "cities."

The young men from our village attending the Belleville Ontario Commercial College report that the system and progress made in their several branches of study especially in book-keeping, far exceeded their expectations. The professors are gentlemen of high reputation and practical workers. Prof. J. W. Johnson, teacher of book-keeping and accountant, is a gentleman favorably known to many of us, having held several responsible and lucrative situations in London, Ont.; also was chief accountant of the late North Shore Transportation Co., under Capt. Alex. Pollock, commodore of the fleet. We expect the boys to come out with well earned diplomas.

Mr. Horatio Thorn lost two valuable horses last week, supposed cause from over feeding corn. He was driving into the village with a load of wood when both horses suddenly fell. One died in half an hour, the other lived until the next night. A subscription list was at once started to assist in buying another team. Mr. Thorn has the sympathy of the villagers in his severe loss.

The frame of Mr. Robert Martin's new hotel is nearly completed, the work is being pushed on rapidly by the contractors. Mr. John Weir has given the contract for his dwelling house to same parties. Times
St. J. Hoos

There are two views of the problem: one is that the agent is responsible for the profits; the other that he is not. If the latter, he owes the town $33.34; if the former, $50.23, as the following, worked by double entry book-keeping, proves.

Dr.	CASH	Cr.
To Town	$32.17	By Liquor
To Liquor	102.97	By Town
		Balance
	available to pay	indebted's
	$135.14	$135.14

Dr.	TOWN	Cr.
To Cash	$25.00	By Cash
To Liquor	31.37	By Liquor
		By Loss & Gain
Balance being am't owing
Town	50.23

$106.60	$106.60
By Balance	$50.23

Dr.	LIQUOR	Cr.
To Town	$57.54	By Cash
To Cash	59.91	By Town
Loss & Gain	16.89

$134.34	$134.34

LOSS & GAIN.

---------	---------	-----------

It will be seen by above that the balance in favor of the town is $50.23, and that he has a debit balance of cash of same amount with which to pay the liability. All other accounts are closed.

An "Ontario Commercial College Graduate" furnishes the following solution:

"The Agent owes the town, $50.23." We have not room for his work in full.

Mr. C. E. Hall sends the same answer and almost identical work. Miss Maggie Pake, of the High School, says the agent owes the town $40.23.

That Problem.

A few days ago the following appeared in the ONTARIO:—

"A liquor agent of a New England town held the office for one year, at the end of which he gave the following statement of his accounts, viz.:

Amount of cash received on assuming the office.....	$32.17
Value of liquor received at same time.....	57.54
Cash received for sale of liquor during the year.....	102.97
Amount paid for liquor bought during the year.....	59.91
Amount of salary of agent.....	25.00
Value of liquor on hand at end of year.....	31.37

Does the agent owe the town, or does the town owe the agent? and how much?"

We have received several solutions, and give the following from Mr. J. W. Johnson, of Ontario Business College as a guide to the rest:

Ontario College.

Last week Mr. Thos. G. Virtue, of Enniskillen, purchased from us a Scholarship for the Ontario Commercial College, Belleville, whither he has gone to spend a few months. If farmers would make a practice of sending their sons to a Commercial College for three or four months (the usual time required to take a diploma) during the winter it would give them a better knowledge of business, business forms, keeping of accounts, &c., than they will acquire in a lifetime at home. If greater attention were paid to keeping accounts, much of the litigation between farmers would be avoided. We strongly advise every farmer who can do so to give his son a good Public School education and after that send him for a term to a first class Commercial College. The Ontario College is in our opinion, and we have good reason to know, the best of its class in Canada, and equal to any in the United States. It is now in a flourishing condition, the attendance being larger than ever before. We shall be pleased to give all particulars to parties wishing further information respecting the course, terms, &c. 1894.

ONTARIO BUSINESS COLLEGE.—An influential journal, the Bowmanville Statesman, in its last issue has the following regarding Ontario Business College of this city:—"Mr. Thos. G. Virtue, of Enniskillen, has gone to spend a few months at Ontario Commercial College, Belleville. If farmers would make a practice of sending their sons to a Commercial College for three or four months during the winter it would give them a better knowledge of business, business forms, keeping of accounts etc., than they will acquire in a lifetime at home. If greater attention were paid to keeping accounts, much of the litigation between farmers would be avoided. We strongly advise every farmer who can do so to give his son a good public school education, and after that send him for a term to a first-class Commercial College. To the Editor of the ONTARIO,

There need not be any more extravagance in teachers' salaries, when men can be had who, "not desirous of notoriety," but actuated solely by "what reason tells them is their duty," are willing to teach the young idea free of charge. I only hope this extraordinary individual philanthropy will extend farther, and that he will devote his eminent talents to sawing the wood required for the corporation stoves, or to the performance of any other like service which heretofore, when it has been of good quality, the people have been obliged, and have been willing, to pay for.

PLEASING.—Our readers doubtless observed, and it is a pleasing feature connected with the event, that many of the names attached to the address presented to Mrs. N. The special course at Ontario Business College, Belleville, is largely attended by teachers, during the holidays. Twelve of the number are preparing, under Mr. W. E. Sprague, Principal of Northumberland Model School, for first and second class certificates.

CANADA SCHOOL JOURNAL.—The June issue of this valuable educational publication, which completes the second volume, has been received. It contains a portrait and biographical sketch of Daniel Wilson, Esq., LL. D., and a number of practical articles of interest and value to teachers and educationalists generally, amongst which is the third of a series of short papers on Penmanship in Public Schools, by W. B. Robinson of the Ontario Business College, Belleville. The School Journal is ably conducted, it fills usefully an important field, it is carefully edited, and we are glad to know has proved successful. #### BELLEVILLE EXHIBITS.

On the first gallery on the northeast side one of the noticeable exhibits is that of the Ontario Business College. A fine display of penmanship is made, and several large posters invite visitors to "Take a Journal from Ontario Business College, Belleville." The invitation is willingly accepted and thousands of copies of the College Journal, which not only advertise the College, but also help to make Belleville known to the world, are taken daily. There is certainly no institution in Belleville through which the good city is so well advertised as through Ontario Business College. Its journal circulates in every Province of the Dominion, and largely in the United States, and from all these sources its students are drawn.

and the Ontario Commercial College a first prize and diploma for business penmanship. Regarding the latter the Globe says:—

"The commercial colleges are as usual to the front with their surprisingly fine specimens of penmanship. The Ontario Commercial College, which has been in existence at Belleville for ten years, was awarded the first prize and diploma for business penmanship. The style is the Canadian Beatty, closely akin to the Spencerian writing, but dispensing with much of the flourishing which renders the latter sometimes objectionable to business men."

—One of the most useful books we have seen has just been published by Mr. J. W. Johnson of the Ontario Business College, Belleville, it is a work on Joint Stock Book-keeping, and contains a simple and well defined system of keeping the books of a Joint Stock Company, besides a well written and valuable digest of the law affecting such corporations. There is perhaps no branch of book-keeping so little understood as this, and Mr. Johnson's work cannot fail to be of immense value to accountants and to Business Colleges. National June 27/78

The Canada School Journal for August notes the success attending the special cause for teachers during the Public Schools vacation at Ontario Commercial College, Belleville. The attendance is good, and the utmost satisfaction is expressed regarding the teaching, and the great advantage it affords to those preparing for certificates. Mr. W. B. Robinson's fifth article on "Penmanship in Public Schools" appears in the present number of the journal, and is worthy of that gentleman's high reputation as a teacher of the art. Little Aug 1/78

FINE ARTS.

We are pleased to find Ontario Business College, Belleville, among the exhibitors, and as usual making a magnificent display of business and ornamental penmanship. The display made by the College is the same that took the first prize at the late Provincial Exhibition at Toronto. The tenth annual circular of the College is being distributed, and from it we learn, and are pleased to note, the yearly increasing success of the institution, which is the leading Commercial College in Canada. The great success of its graduates is the surest proof of the thoroughness of its training, and the works on book-keeping and penmanship: of which Mr. S. G. Beatty, Mr. J. W. Johnson and Mr. W. B. Robinson, its Principals, are the authors, and which are the national Canadian works on these subjects, prove the fitness of these gentlemen for imparting a sound commercial education. The advantage enjoyed by students of Ontario Business College, in addition to its thoroughness, is that board is cheaper in Belleville than in any other place possessing a Business College. Those who have not received the College circular can obtain it free on application to S. G. Beatty & Co., Belleville. using before 1878

ONTARIO COMMERCIAL COLLEGE BELLEVILLE.

The above Institution which is now in the tenth year of its existence is an exhibitor of the finest display of penmanship hitherto shown here. The specimens exhibited are the same that took the first prize and diploma at the late Provincial Exhibition at Toronto.

The system of penmanship is the Canadian Beatty (S. G. Beatty one of the Principals of the College) which is that now authorized by the Minister of Education for use in the public schools of Ontario, and which is acquired by the students of the College. The great success of the works on Book-keeping, of which Mr. S. G. Beatty and Mr. J. W. Johnson are the authors, is worthy of note in connection with the College. The "Canadian Accountant" and "Johnson's Joint Stock Company Book-keeping" are recognized as national Canadian works. Ontario Commercial College stands at the head of the commercial colleges of Canada, and has in attendance students from nearly every province of the Dominion as well as from the United States. That it can impart the most thorough commercial education is proved by the great success throughout the country of the hundreds of young men it has trained. The College Journal is sent free on application. Send for it. News 1878

NIGHT SCHOOL.—A good commercial night school is a great boon to the young men whose education in boyhood was neglected or to those who desire to study book-keeping, and certainly in no place is there a better than that which Ontario Commercial College has carried on each winter for the past ten years. Our readers will see by the advertisement in another column that the evening classes at the College will be resumed on the first Monday in November, and we most heartily commend them to the young men of the city who require the instruction that will be given.

Night School.

The Press
Now that the long evenings are drawing near, many young men will begin to ponder the question of how they will put in their time profitably—that is, those young men who are in the habit of pondering any question. Amusements there will be in plenty for those who seek them; but a good wholesome occupation for the winter evenings is something which has puzzled many to discover. We would draw attention to the advertisement of the Ontario Business College, in another column, which contains the announcement of the opening of its Night School. The Night School has now been a regular institution of the College for five years, and has been carried on with the greatest success. Young men and boys, in the hours which they would otherwise have devoted either to loafing on the streets or something worse, have by attending it been enabled to obtain a fair business education, including a practical knowledge of book-keeping. It is unnecessary to say anything further as to the merits of the institution; the good work it has wrought in the past is sufficient to ensure it a large patronage from the youth of the city during the coming winter.

NIGHT SCHOOL.—We call the attention of our readers to the announcement in our advertising columns that Ontario Commercial College Night School will be resumed on Monday, November 4th, and continue four months. Hundreds of the young men of Belleville have, during the last ten years, taken advantage of its facilities, and we doubt not that during the present winter the classes will be well attended. Those whose early education was neglected will find the opportunity of improving, and those who desire to learn book-keeping will have every facility for doing so.

JOINT STOCK COMPANY BOOKKEEPING. By J. W. JOHNSON, of the Belleville Commercial College.

This is a useful manual of bookkeeping prepared by Mr. Johnson, of the Ontario Business College, Belleville. It contains a digest of the law affecting joint stock companies, the manner of forming them, and a complete elucidation, in a practical form, of joint stock company bookkeeping. We have read the book and can recommend it. mail June 25/98

JOINT STOCK COMPANY BOOK KEEPING.—We do not doubt that information as to the proper way to go about the formation of joint stock concerns would be of service to many, who are deterred from such enterprises through dread of the expense and trouble of preliminary details, and likewise for lack of knowledge how to set about the matter. Above is given the title of a work, a copy of which has been sent us, prepared for the use of Companies, Accountants, &c., by a gentleman who has had experience in connection with such organizations, Mr. J. W. Johnson, of Belleville. This book gives a comprehensive account of the manner in which joint stock companies' books ought to be kept, and examples, as well, of by-laws, minutes &c. A valuable feature is a digest of the Dominion and Ontario Acts respecting such companies. The author thinks that an ordinary book-keeper cannot manage the accounts of a joint stock company without special instruction, and states that he has often been called upon to audit company books which had been kept by a friend of the President, or the son of a stockholder, who had been appointed accountant, and he has found them to consist of memoranda often mixed and muddled. We are aware that book keeping sorely needs to be taught to many of our storekeepers, and we would not attempt to deny that many joint stock companies will be the better of this or some such book upon the subject. Monthly Times June 14/98

JOINT STOCK COMPANY BOOKKEEPING, DESIGNED FOR THE USE OF ACCOUNTANTS AND BUSINESS COLLEGES, BY J. W. JOHNSON, OF ONTARIO BUSINESS COLLEGE, BELLEVILLE. PUBLISHED BY THE COLLEGE.

We have received a copy of this work from the author, who is one of the partners in the Commercial College, Belleville, the reputation of which is high all over the country. Of the work the Belleville Intelligencer says:

—We referred last week to a work on "Joint Stock Company Book-keeping," issued by J. W. Johnson, of the Ontario Business College, Belleville. We have since then further examined the work, and are forcibly impressed with its excellent character. We consider it indispensable to any one who is called upon to do with the books of joint stock companies, and would strongly recommend it to the attention of practical accountants. June 14/98

Literary.

BOOK-KEEPING.—Mr. J. W. Johnson, of Ontario Business College, Belleville, Ont., has published a work on Joint Stock Company Book-keeping. It is very comprehensive, and to all persons connected with public enterprises will be invaluable. It contains a digest of the law affecting joint stock companies, the manner of forming them and a comprehensive explanation of joint stock company book-keeping in a practical form. The author evidently understands the various subjects he has treated, and he has made his elucidation of them so plain that "he who runs may read."

Joint Stock Company Book-Keeping.

This is the title of a work just printed at the Ontario office for the author, Mr. J. W. Johnson, of Ontario Business College. It contains a digest of the law affecting Joint Stock Companies, the manner of forming them, and a complete elucidation, in a practical form, of Joint Stock Book-keeping, and is designed for accountants and Business Colleges. Mr. Johnson is well known as an accountant of much experience and superior ability. No other man in the country is better qualified for the task he has so successfully accomplished. He has, during many years' experience as a practical book-keeper, observed the necessity that exists for a work on Joint Stock Book-keeping, that will embrace both a well-defined and easily understood system of keeping Joint Stock Company Accounts. It was with the desire of supplying such a necessity that the work we refer to was prepared.

The first portion of the work is devoted to the Dominion and Ontario laws affecting Joint Stock Companies, and in preparing it the author acknowledges valuable assistance from John J. B. Flint, Esq., Barrister, &c., of this city.

The remaining portion of the work illustrates completely and in every detail the whole system of properly recording the transactions, and arriving at the accurate results of the business of a Joint Stock Company. The method adopted has been matured by Mr. Johnson from his practical knowledge as an accountant in connection with some of the most important Joint Stock Companies in this country.

The following, which we take from the author's "Preface," is more appropriate in this connection than anything we could say ourselves:—"It is hardly necessary to point out how much the success of the business of an individual, a firm, or a company depends upon sound and accurate book-keeping, and yet the lessons taught by the failures confessedly brought about by the absence of it are in a great measure neglected. No man, or number of men, should attempt the conduct of a business without a knowledge of book-keeping themselves, or the employment of those who are possessed of it; and what is essential in this respect with individuals or firms is intensely necessary in connection with Joint Stock Companies, the affairs of which are usually of magnitude, and effect a wide circle."

We recommend Mr. Johnson's work to those interested, and feel assured that it will meet with the public favor its merits deserve. Can. Bus. 5/18

JOINT STOCK COMPANY BOOK-KEEPING.—

Mr. J. W. Johnson, of the Ontario Business College, has just published a book under the above title. The first portion of the work is devoted to the Dominion and Ontario laws affecting Joint Stock Companies, (in which department he has had the valuable assistance of J. J. B. Flint, Esq., barrister) and the other portion of the work illustrates completely and in every detail the system of properly recording the transactions and arriving at the accurate results of the business of a Joint Stock Company by a method which the author has matured from practical knowledge as an accountant in connection with some of the most important Joint Stock Companies in this country. The Dominion Joint Stock Companies Act is given in full, together with the full text of a special Act of Incorporation under that law, whilst the method of incorporating under the Ontario Joint Stock Companies' Letter Patent Act is given in full, together with a reference to the special Acts of Incorporation obtained under the Ontario Legislature. This part of the book is therefore very full and complete. Then follows Joint Stock Company Book-keeping, in which examples of keeping and making out the following books and forms are given, with accompanying brief and lucid instructions in the case of each, namely: By-laws, Minute Book, Stock List, Instalment Lists, Instalment Scrip, Stock Certificate, Transfer Book, Purser's Trip Statement, Journal, Cash Book, General Ledger, Stock Ledger, Trial Balance, Dividend Sheet, Profit and Loss Statement, and Asset and Liability Statement, appended to which are some profitable remarks on Auditing and Issuing of Stock. Mr. Johnson brings exceptionally good qualifications to his task, which appears to have been executed in a satisfactory manner. His ability in stating his facts in brief space and in a clear manner are all that could be desired, the reader being therefore relieved from the unpleasant duty of wading through a mass of unnecessary verbiage to arrive at the author's meaning, and his years of experience in several large houses and later as a successful teacher in the Ontario Business College render him eminently fitted to treat of the matters which form the subject of his work. The book contains 75 pages and we feel satisfied will fill a want long felt by business men, and it will no doubt meet with a large and rapid sale amongst them. The typography is, however, very inferior, it being a pity that a work of such value should be marred by poor printing and numerous typographical errors. Angell & Co., June 5/18

MIXED AND MUDDLED.

Mr. J. W. Johnson, of the Ontario Business College, of Belleville, has prepared a book, for the use of accountants and business colleges, entitled, "Joint-Stock Company 'Book keeping.'" This work gives a full and clear account, with illustrations, of the way in which joint stock companies' books are kept, and there are several pages devoted to the Dominion and Ontario laws affecting these companies. Mr. Johnson says that he has often been called upon to audit company books which had been kept by a friend of the president, or son of a stockholder, who had been appointed accountant, and has found them to consist of memoranda "Mixed and Muddled." An ordinary bookskeeper cannot, he says, manage the accounts of a joint-stock company without special instructions. Address page 4/18

(Montreal Journal of Commerce.)

THE "CANADIAN ACCOUNTANT."—By S. G. Beatty, Belleville, Ont. There is scarcely anything in the business world that this volume does not fully explain. The specimen sets of municipal and other books, with directions to officers, is something entirely new, and well worth the consideration of those who are engaged in such work. The book should be of much value to wholesale and retail merchants and manufacturers; indeed it cannot be too strongly recommended to all engaged in commercial pursuits. A practical acquaintance with business details to the extent implied in Mr. Beatty's work is a rare faculty, and one which should be of much benefit to those who patronize the Business College conducted by him at Belleville.

(Toronto Monetary Times.)

THE "CANADIAN ACCOUNTANT."—By S. G. Beatty, Belleville, Ont. This a volume of 300 pages, the aim of which is to show the business man or the student how business should be done, how books should be kept, how banking accounts should be managed; and so far as we have been able to examine its contents, they are suggestive and valuable in this direction. A novel feature is a specimen set of municipal books with directions to officers having such duties how they should systematize the monetary affairs of townships or towns. To such officers, the book is well worth its price. Indeed it is a handy volume of reference to men in various lines of business.

(Daily Globe.)

"THE CANADIAN ACCOUNTANT."—By S. G. Beatty. This elaborate treatise on the conduct of business is both well arranged and exhaustive.

The first part is a course on Book-keeping, the second is a business course for advanced students; and the third a collection of Business Forms for general use. Business Correspondence, and Commercial Calculation; the whole making a manual suitable for either study or consultation.

(Boston Journal of Commerce.)

THE "CANADIAN ACCOUNTANT."—By S. G. Beatty, Principal of Ontario Business College, Belleville, Ont. Second edition; revised and enlarged. (Published at the College.)

This is a handsomely printed and well bound volume of three hundred octavo pages. It contains some sixteen sets in general Merchandising and Manufacturing business Administrators' Books, Dealing with Banks, Steamboating and Municipal Accounts, besides a very complete treatise on Commercial Calculations, embracing abbreviated methods not found in common arithmetics. It gives considerable space also to Business Correspondence and Negotiable Paper. We have rarely met with better material for the student of accounts than this work furnishes. Its use among accountants and business men as a reference book cannot fail to be highly satisfactory.

(Montreal Daily Witness)

THE "CANADIAN ACCOUNTANT."—(Ontario Business College, Belleville, Ont.) is a volume of 300 pages, prepared by S. G. Beatty, the Principal of the College which publishes the book. It contains a practical system of book-keeping, with a "complete elucidation of the science of accounts by the latest and most approved methods, business correspondence, mercantile forms, and other valuable information." It is designed for the use of business colleges, academies and high schools. Part I. contains a comprehensive course of book-keeping. Part II. is a business course for advanced pupils, including manufacturing, settlement of estates, &c., with a complete set of municipal books prepared by Mr. J. W. Johnson, of Belleville. Part III. contains model business letters and short methods of computing interest, percentage, &c., which last will be found useful to others besides book-keepers. The whole volume is full of suggestive hints to those engaged in business, and will well repay careful study.

(Daily Intelligencer.)

THE "CANADIAN ACCOUNTANT."—Mr. S. G. Beatty, Principal of the Ontario Business College, in this town, has published a very valuable work bearing the title above quoted. It is devoted to the science of accounts, giving a thoroughly practical system of book-keeping and besides a thorough elucidation of the subject by the methods shown to be the best by modern experience, contains highly useful forms of business correspondence, mercantile forms, and much valuable information on cognate subjects. Included in the work is a valuable new feature, namely, a system of keeping the books of a municipality, devised by Mr. J. W. Johnson, of this town, who is a skilled accountant. The book is the most thorough and comprehensive ever issued in Canada, and those who know Mr. Beatty's qualifications for his task, which are of the highest order, would expect nothing less at his hands. As the work is worthy of large sale, we hope that it will be extensively circulated, and widely studied and made use of, as it deserves to be.

(Ottawa Citizen.)

THE "CANADIAN ACCOUNTANT."—By S. G. Beatty. We consider that this work reflects great credit upon the author, and his knowledge of the wants of the public. * * * It is invaluable as a reference book to accountants, merchants, farmers and mechanics. It is skillfully divided into three parts, each mutually depending upon the other, leading by progressive steps to the final result. * * * The sets of book-keeping begin with the simplest transactions, and synthetically unfold the science of accounts, while each in its turn presents some specialty of business, the purpose of which is distinctly characterized by some radical feature. We recommend it as a very valuable book, and believe it to be one that every business man should possess.

OF SPECIAL INTEREST TO TEACHERS. — We would draw special attention to an advertisement in another column of the Ontario Business College, Belleville, regarding the formation of special classes for teachers during the coming vacation. There will be two courses: one in Book-keeping and Penmanship, and the other in the full range of subjects required for third, second, and first class certificates. The gentleman who is to conduct the latter course is Mr. W. E. Sprague, Head Master of the Model and Public Schools, Cobourg, and medallist of the Toronto Normal School. We have the utmost confidence in recommending those to whom the course mentioned would be beneficial to avail themselves of the opportunity afforded. Belleville is a beautiful and healthy city and a cheap place to live in; and we know that the teaching will be of the highest order.

*Can. School Journal

COMMERCIAL COLLEGE PEN. — Having given a fair trial to the pens manufactured specially for the Ontario Commercial College, we can recommend them for the use of business men, and more especially to those who practice the Spencerian system, as their fineness and great elasticity enable the writer to form the hair strokes beautifully and also to make the heavy lines with equal facility. For sale at the College in gross and quarter gross boxes at the usual prices.

The latter course will be conducted by Mr. W. E. Sprague, Head Master of the Model and Public Schools, Cobourg, who holds a first-class certificate, Grade "A" (Provincial medallist.)

GREAT SUCCESS attended the special course for Teachers in the 77 vacation, and doubtless it will be exceeded this year, owing to the possession of greater facilities.

FEES — The fees for the course in Penmanship and Book-Keeping will be $2.00 per week, or $9.00 for six weeks; and for the other course $3.00 per week, or $14.00 for six weeks.

BOARD in private families, where comfort and convenience will be enjoyed, will cost only $2.50 per week.

THE RESULT. — As one good result of the completion of the Intercolonial Railway, among many others, we may mention that there are now in attendance at the Ontario Commercial College students from all the Maritime Provinces. These gentlemen say it would have been impossible for them to enjoy the superior advantages of this institution but for the facilities offered by the Intercolonial, in rapid transit from one part of the Dominion to the other.

Intelligencer May 21/98

THE BEST PENS IN USE. — We have tried the "Ontario Commercial College Double Elastic Steel Pen" and have no hesitation in pronouncing them the best in use, and altogether worthy of the high encomiums passed upon them. These pens are manufactured to order, for the College, by Joseph Gillott, of Birmingham, England, and are of superior workmanship and quality. In fineness, action and smoothness of execution they are unequalled by any other pen in the country.

Ontario Feb 27/98

INTERPROVINCIAL. — The value of the Intercolonial Railway from a national point of view, and its great utility to the commercial interests of the Dominion are being proved daily. Locally we are beginning to reap its benefits. We noted a few days ago the fact that Messrs. Corby & Sons had opened a branch of their business in St. John, N. B., and we are now pleased to state that among the students attending the Ontario Commercial College in this city are young men from Nova Scotia and New Brunswick, attracted hither by the national reputation which the College has attained. These facts prove that Confederation is more than a name, and are gratifying to our patriotism, as well as productive of benefit to our enterprising city.

(Kingston Whig.)

We have been favored with a perusal of the "Canadian Accountant," by S. G. Beatty, the talented Principal of the Belleville Business College. It is a second edition, revised, and enlarged, and has references to all branches of business and so simplifies matters as to make it comprehensible where other works of this nature have been quite the reverse. We believe with the author, that the study and practice of book-keeping are now recognized not only as a science, but equally so as an art, and while the science remains permanent the art is almost as variable as the different methods of conducting business. A haphazard system of recording business transactions will not answer the requirements of men engaged in trade and commerce. There must be a recognized system, and this fact is universally acknowledged and acted upon that attention is being called to the necessity that exists for a more thorough and practical course of business training. The arrangement of the present work is such that the divisions of the subject are presented in a natural progressive order, and the student is led by easy transitions from simple business transactions to the most intricate exercises to be met with in business, and is able to trace the connecting links that make the whole science one harmonious system of definite and accurate business record. The book is divided into three parts, each distinct in its own special design, but so arranged that the student can trace the mutual dependence one upon the other, and follow the progressive steps that lead to the final results. A new feature—one introduced for the first time in a treatise of this kind—is a specimen set of Municipal Books, with full explanatory notes from the pen of Mr. J. W. Johnson, of Belleville, whom the author speaks of as "a most efficient and practical accountant of many years' experience." This new feature is an important addition to so useful a book for, though well posted in ordinary book-keeping, we have seen too many cases where our accountants have been fearfully deficient in their knowledge of public business. On the whole Mr. Beatty and his assistants have produced a book without a rival, one that is of the utmost value, as tending to develop the business talent of the country. Prepared with care, it will surely meet with the success its merits deserve.

Merchants Bank of Canada.

S. G. BEATTY, ESQ., Principal of Ontario Business College, Belleville.

Dear Sir,—After an examination of your "Canadian Accountant," I cannot but express my astonishment at the vast amount of practical information the work contains. As a teacher of Book-keeping it has the merit of being easily understood, and at the same time most comprehensive. Almost every variety of Book-keeping, with the peculiarities of each, is so fully illustrated that no one of ordinary capacity need have the slightest difficulty in mastering the system which applies to his particular business. It is therefore not merely a work for the use of schools and colleges, but one of inestimable value to all engaged in business, and especially those of whom there are so many, who lack the advantage of training in a regular system of keeping accounts. One feature struck me as well considered and admirably in harmony with the practical character of the work, viz.—the article on "Dealing with Banks," in which the forms of transacting business are laid down so fully, and at the same time concisely and clearly, that nothing seems to be overlooked. The work cannot fail to be regarded as a great boon to students and business men, and for the purpose it is intended to serve, would be difficult to improve upon.

Yours truly,
R. THOMSON,
Manager.

Toronto, 5th March, 1877.

S. G. BEATTY, ESQ., Belleville, Ontario, Principal Ontario Business College.

Dear Sir,—I have looked over your work on Book-keeping, "The Canadian Accountant" and am much pleased with the general appearance and outline. It contains a vast amount of valuable information, and is well suited to an Educational Institution for Commercial training, or as a book of reference for those engaged in business. Students who master its details cannot fail to become expert Book-keepers and excellent business men. The "Municipal Set" is a new feature, and cannot but prove acceptable and instructive, in a high degree, to those engaged in the conduct of Municipal affairs, whether as Aldermen, Councilmen, Merchants, or Accountants. Trusting it may have the circulation it merits.

I remain, dear sir, very truly yours,
WM. R. ORR,
City Auditor, T. Ronto.
Treasurer's Office,
Ottawa, 5th March, 1877.

S. G. BEATTY, ESQ., Belleville.

Sir,—I have to acknowledge receipt of a copy of "The Canadian Accountant." I have had great satisfaction in looking over it, and have much pleasure in recommending it to the Canadian public, as it gives a clear and concise statement of the correct mode of book keeping required in almost every kind of business transacted in this country, and is a valuable work to any person, but especially to those engaged in business or taking charge of books. A new feature in your work is a complete set of Municipal accounts. Although somewhat curtailed it gives a clear and thorough knowledge of the proper way in which Corporation accounts should be kept. The rules given for Lumbermen, Mechanics, and Farmers, are the best I have ever seen, and cannot fail to be of great service.

I am yours, &c.,
THOS. H. KERBY,
Treasurer, Ottawa.

County Treasurer's Office,
Belleville, 5th March, 1877.

S. G. BEATTY, ESQ., Principal Ontario Business College.

My Dear Sir,—I have derived much pleasure from the perusal of your very comprehensive work on Book-keeping. The system is very complete and is thoroughly explained and exemplified by appropriate exercises. It is admirably adapted for a text-book in a School or Commercial College, and in that respect cannot fail to be considered as a boon both to teachers and pupils; while for self instruction, or as a book of reference in a Merchant's or Accountant's Office it cannot be surpassed. The section of Municipal Accounts is a very valuable addition to the work.

Yours very truly,
F. McANNAN,

Ontario Commercial College.
(From the Daily Ontario.)

This Institution has grown within the past five years from a small beginning, to be the leading Business College of our country.

It was inaugurated in the fall of 1868 by Messrs. S. G. Beatty and Geo. Wallbridge.

At that time but little progress had been made in the department of business education in Central Canada, and but few understood or appreciated its value. When the originators proposed opening such a College, sage people shook their heads, and their old experienced friends went to them and endeavoured to point out the absurdity of the idea of Belleville supporting such a College; but the proprietors were so strongly imbued with the necessity of a more practical education for all classes that they foresaw success, and determined to make it not only of local but of national importance. They commenced with only seven students, but before the end of the year over 200 had availed themselves of the advantages offered. These young men went out into the world as living advertisements for the College.

Their neat and easy style of penmanship, rapidity of calculation and thorough knowledge of accounts procured them lucrative positions, and the manner in which they performed their work showed that they had received the right kind of training. Business men began to look for assistants recommended from this College, and it soon became generally known that no time was wasted in this Institution on subjects that were not immediately available, but that the mind was directed to the practical and useful rather than the showy and cumbersome.

In the summer of 1871 Mr. Beatty purchased Mr. Wallbridge's interest and procuring the assistance of Mr. W. B. Robinson and other able instructors revised the entire course.

The Institution continued to grow in public favor, receiving patrons from all parts of Canada, and some from the United States, until it increased beyond the capacity of the rooms first secured and the proprietor was necessitated to get more spacious apartments. The College now occupies an entire flat of McAnnany's new building. The rooms were specially fitted up for this purpose and are conveniently arranged to facilitate classification, being spacious and cheerful, well ventilated and lighted by seventeen windows, completely finished and easy of access. The rooms unite every essential requisite as regards light and

The Canadian Accountant.

(From the Daily Intelligencer.)

This is the title of a handsomely bound volume of 264 pages, just published. Its author is Mr. S. G. BEATTY, Principal of Ontario Commercial College, Belleville, and the work reflects the highest credit upon that gentleman's talent, industry and ability, and will rank him among Canada's cleverest Commercial School authors. The "Canadian Accountant" is designed for use in Ontario Commercial College and adapted to Public and High Schools. It will be of great value as a reference book, to accountants, merchants, farmers, mechanics and others.

The work contains 264 pages, is beautifully bound in cloth and is divided into three distinct parts each devoted to a special feature, and replete with familiar examples, questions, &c., to simplify and facilitate the progress of the learner.

It is the only work published that contains a complete course of business training, and will answer an excellent purpose, and supply a long felt need, if introduced as a text book in our High Schools. The simple and progressive manner in which each successive step is taken, would immediately attract the attention of the pupil, and excite an interest in the subject.

Part 1. contains a complete and comprehensive course of Book-keeping, by Single and Double Entry, illustrated with model sets and sufficient examples to make it a self-instructor.

The sets begin with the simplest transactions that could occur in business, and while serving as a synthetical unfolding of the science of accounts, are intended, each in its turn, to present some speciality of business, and some radical feature, which distinctly characterizes its purpose. The general order of arrangement is admirable.

Each set is complete within itself, and special in its purpose and teaching. Its characteristics are briefly announced at the start, and as its results only, with more or less detail, are given at its close, the student is obliged to accomplish the work in order to arrive at the proper result, and is thereby rescued from the too common error of copying without understanding.

Part 2. contains a business course for advanced pupils, comprehending the most practical forms of keeping accounts according to the methods adopted by the best business houses; including Wholesale and Retail Merchandising, Manufacturing, Settlement of Estates, Time and Wages Register, Pay Roll, Cheese Factory Milk Book, &c., &c.

Part 3. contains the Forms of Business Paper in general use, and the principal laws which govern them. Amongst these forms are Bills of Exchange, Notes, Receipts, Drafts, Orders, Checks, Due Bills, Leases, Bonds Mortgages, Assignments, Protests, Manifests, Bills of Lading, Statements, Invoices, Account Sales, Deeds, Agreements, Wills, &c.

This part also contains full instructions on Commercial correspondence, with a great variety of Model Business Letters; short practical methods of computing interest, Percentage, Partial Payments, Average

Ontario Commercial College. (From the Daily Ontario.)

This Institution has grown within the past five years from a small beginning, to be the leading Business College of our country.

It was inaugurated in the fall of 1868 by Messrs. S. G. Beatty and Geo. Wallbridge.

At that time but little progress had been made in the department of business education in Central Canada, and but few understood or appreciated its value. When the originators proposed opening such a College, sage people shook their heads, and their old experienced friends went to them and endeavoured to point out the absurdity of the idea of Belleville supporting such a College; but the proprietors were so strongly imbued with the necessity of a more practical education for all classes that they foresaw success, and determined to make it not only of local but of national importance. They commenced with only seven students, but before the end of the year over 200 had availed themselves of the advantages offered. These young men went out into the world as living advertisements for the College.

Their neat and easy style of penmanship, rapidity of calculation and thorough knowledge of accounts procured them lucrative positions, and the manner in which they performed their work showed that they had received the right kind of training. Business men began to look for assistants recommended from this College, and it soon became generally known that no time was wasted in this Institution on subjects that were not immediately available, but that the mind was directed to the practical and useful rather than the showy and cumbersome.

In the summer of 1871 Mr. Beatty purchased Mr. Wallbridge's interest and procuring the assistance of Mr. W. B. Robinson and other able instructors revised the entire course.

The Institution continued to grow in public favor, receiving patrons from all parts of Canada, and some from the United States, until it increased beyond the capacity of the rooms first secured and the proprietor was necessitated to get more spacious apartments. The College now occupies an entire flat of McAnnany's new building. The rooms were specially fitted up for this purpose and are conveniently arranged to facilitate classification, being spacious and cheerful, well ventilated and lighted by seventeen windows, completely finished and easy of access. The rooms unite every essential requisite as regards light and

ONTARIO COMMERCIAL COLLEGE.—This popular institution, which is located in Belleville, is one of the largest of its kind in Ontario, and the work done is second to none. The managers and Teachers all understand their business, and the consequence is, this is becoming the favorite Business Training School in the Province. Pupils attend from every section, and most satisfactory progress is being attained. The fees of Tuition are reasonable, and board may be obtained cheaper there than at any point where the other Colleges are situated. The College stands high in the public estimation, and it deservedly does so. We will give all the information possible to any wishing to enter, and also supply them with the necessary scrip for tuition. We call attention to an article in another column from the Ontario Chronicle, Belleville, which speaks fully of the importance of this institution.

Ontario Commercial College.

The above institution, located at Belleville, Ont., has grown within a few years, from a small beginning to be the leading Business School in Canada.

A number of young men from Gananoque and vicinity, have availed themselves of the advantages offered by this College, and the easy style of penmanship, thorough and practical knowledge of accounts, together with other valuable knowledge acquired in their course of training, speak volumes in favor of the Institution.

In consequence of the patronage received from all parts of this country and the U.
States, during the past winter, the proprietors were necessitated to move into more spacious apartments, and now with an extensive hall, airy and commodious rooms, an improved and practical course of study and a large staff of able teachers, they announce better inducements than ever before.

The course of instruction is of a very practical nature and just such as every man requires, no matter what his calling may be.
Although the Institution has been but five years established, it boasts of 1500 graduates
now in good positions as Accountants, Clerks, Telegraph Operators, or in business for themselves.

We would advise our young men who desire a business education to attend this College.

A volume just published, neatly bound and well printed bearing the above name has been laid on our table. Its author Mr. S. G. Beatty, Principal of the Ontario Commercial College, at Belleville, a gentleman well-known already in Commercial circles in Ontario, as an educator and author, deserves great praise for the care and skill he has exercised in preparing this work for the people, and its appearance and value to everyone bear testimony to the talent and industry of Mr. Beatty, which is everywhere apparent in the Book. It was originally intended by the author for use more particularly in the flourishing College over which he presides but it is well adapted for use in our Public and High Schools and Colleges, while to the general public in every business it is simply invaluable.

The book contains 284 pages, and is printed and bound, clearly and neatly in the best style of the "Ontario Publishing Company," of Belleville. It is divided into three parts each complete in itself, with examples of every rule laid down, a thing too often neglected in school text books. The whole course of business training that is usually obtained at the numerous Commercial Colleges of the Country is taken up and treated systematically and according to the best authors of the day. It is plainly written and easily understood, so that a man of limited education may readily grasp and easily retain the ideas it conveys. It is adapted equally for junior and more advanced students in schools, and for mechanics, farmers and merchants, each one finding in it something he did not know before, and something that men in every occupation should know. We would be glad to see the book used in our College, for we feel convinced it would soon take the place of the American text books now in use, not only in the regard of the students, but in that of the teachers. We cheerfully recommend the work to our readers, confident that Canadian Enterprise will be fostered, and Canadian authors encouraged in everything pertaining to the good of the country and the advancement of its people.

ONTARIO COMMERCIAL COLLEGE JOURNAL.

—A copy of this publication has been placed upon our table. It is a very well arranged paper of eight pages, got up by the principals Messrs. Beatty & Wallbridge, to advance the interests of the Institution, and is sent free to any address. In addition to a large amount of information respecting the working of the College, it contains a number of well executed cuts, showing correct and incorrect positions in writing, some good reading matter, and a very fine picture of the College Building. This College is rapidly extending its influence, and has a promising future before it.

ONTARIO COMMERCIAL COLLEGE JOURNAL is a very neatly got up Advertising Sheet, chiefly designed to further the interests of the Messrs. Beatty and Wallbridge's Commercial College. It contains some good electrotype plates, a few choice selections, and the names and business notices of many of our most prominent merchants. It is distributed gratis.

A BEAUTIFUL SPECIMEN OF ART:—In one of the windows of Mr. Harrison's book store may be seen a copy of the very handsome Diploma of the Ontario Commercial College. It was designed and gotten up expressly for the College by Messrs. Burland, Lafraicain & Co., engravers, Montreal, and is indeed a beautiful specimen of art. The work is done upon parchment and embraces both engraving and lithography, the text and script lettering being of the former and the very fine vignette in the centre of the latter art. We have had occasion before to notice the great success attending the efforts of the principals in establishing a first-class business college in Belleville, and are again pleased to note their continued prosperity. The fact of their going to the expense of having such fine Diplomas for their graduates is another evidence of their determination to stand at the head of their profession.—Intelligencer.

THE COMMERCIAL COLLEGE.—The remarkable specimens of artistic penmanship and pen sketching shewn by Mr. Beatty, of the Belleville Commercial College, at the Central Fair, were the same as those which won the first prizes at Ottawa, in the Provincial Exhibition. The College will gain a still higher name on their account, as they have been chosen for the Canadian Department of the Centennial Show. The College is of long standing credit, and Mr. Beatty is as capable in other branches as in Penmanship.

Belleville Advertiser

See what the Belleville "Daily Intelligencer" says, Nov. 22nd, 1869, one week after our opening:

ONTARIO COMMERCIAL COLLEGE.—It is with pleasure we record the opening of the above Institution. Although but one week has passed since the opening day, SIXTY students have entered, a fact which shows the necessity for such a school in our midst, and the appreciation of the enterprise of the men in whose charge it is. Visiting the College and rooms on Friday last we were surprised as well as pleased to see such a number of middle-aged and young men working away at writing, book-keeping, telegraphing and the other studies of the College, with an energy and eagerness that augured well for their success. The teachers were most assiduous in their attentions, passing from one student to another, giving individual instruction and directing them in their work.

The rooms are commodious, warm, well lighted and fitted up with comfortable desks, tables and chairs; in fact everything conducive to the comfort of the student and the proper working of the school has been attended to. It should be visited to be appreciated.

ONTARIO COMMERCIAL COLLEGE. — The establishment of this business school in our town is supplying a want that has long been felt. Heretofore, our people who wished to give their sons an education for business life, were required to send them away from home, at a great expense. Now we have a Commercial College in our midst, possessing advantages equal to any in the Dominion; a fact which, to judge from the long list of students who have already entered, is becoming not only known, but appreciated. The principals are the right men in the right place. Mr. Beatty's long successful experience as a teacher, and Mr. Wallbridge's as a book-keeper in Boston and other places, peculiarly fit them for the position they hold. The other teachers in the different departments are also thoroughly qualified, being men of practical experience and of well known ability.

DEAR SIRS, — I have much pleasure in acknowledging the great progress made by my son while under your tuition, for four months, during last winter. ONTARIO COMMERCIAL COLLEGE.—We would call particular attention to our readers to the Advertisement of the Commercial College at Belleville, the course of study comprises the following branches, Bookkeeping, Penmanship, Banking, Telegraphing, &c. Superior inducements are offered to young men especially those who are about to engage in a mercantile business, and the locality of the college cannot be surpassed; for the wealthy farmers sons of the County of Hastings are alone sufficient to fill the college of Messrs. Beatty and Wallbridge.

EVENING CLASSES.—Those in want of a thorough commercial education, for the acquirement of which they cannot spare the requisite time during the day, will be pleased to learn that the evening classes at the Ontario Commercial College will be resumed on Tuesday evening, November 1st, and continue for four months. The advantages thus offered are such as should command the attention of all young men whose desire is to acquire a thorough business education, as the course of instruction is thorough, and the teachers are gentlemen whose ability in their Toronto Telegraph & Montreal Gazette, Oct. 17/76.

COMMERCIAL COLLEGE.—Two or three weeks ago we published the first notice of a new Commercial College opened by Messrs. Beatty and Wallbridge, of Belleville, and have from week to week neglected to call attention to it, as we intended to do, for we have had the pleasure of being assured that the College is one of the best of its kind in the country. Not only are the Principals graduates of Commercial Colleges, but one of them at least has had the additional advantage of being of the staff of teachers in one of Bryan and Strattons, chain of Colleges, where the routine of practical education was reduced to a science. At our very doors, and possessing these advantages, it behoves a duty as well as a pleasure to call attention to the fact that young men may now obtain business education qualifying them for any of the duties of life at very moderate outlay.

Ontario Commercial College.

Although this Institution is but entering upon the third year of its existence, it is becoming the most popular Business College in the Province.

There are at present over one hundred names on the roll, and students are coming in rapidly from far and near.

The increasing popularity of this College is owing, not only to the central position of Belleville, and the cheap rates of board and other expenses attending a student while here, but also to the thoroughness of the course of training and consequent proficiency that every student must go through and arrive at, before completing the course, and winning his diploma.

Our people are becoming enlightened on the subject of practical education, and young men are substituting practical knowledge for smattering of Latin and Greek that some parents deem necessary to complete the education of their sons.

Young men who are going into the workshop of the mechanic, the counting-room of the merchant, or to conduct the affairs of a farm, have neither time nor money to spend on those subjects which are not subservient in the particular business they intend to follow. To such, a business education will be best and most profitable. What practical use has the farmer, the mechanic, the merchant or the manufacturer, for a knowledge of the classics. His inability to illustrate his meaning at any time by a quotation from Horace or Virgil, however elegant it may be, will never subject him to one iota of a loss.

Every young man in this enlightened age, no matter what his future occupation may be, requires an education that will enable him to transact his business systematically.

As the season of the year is now at hand when young men who have been employed during the summer will commence attending some school for the winter months, we would ask them to consider the propriety of attending this College. Many of its graduates are filling lucrative positions as accountants, and the terms in which they speak of the College is highly commendable.

ONTARIO COMMERCIAL COLLEGE.—

Young men who desire to obtain an education that will fit them for transacting business systematically, should seek instruction in an institution that makes a speciality of business training. The above Business College is practically a school of this kind, and is deservedly meeting with great success. It has during the past few years educated hundreds of young men, from the store, the workshop and the farm, who are now filling important and lucrative positions as accountants and telegraph operators, in various parts of this country and the United States, and the terms in which they speak of the thoroughness of the instruction, and the short time required to complete the course, shows that no time is there wasted on studies that are not actually required to qualify a person to do business.

The subjects taught in this College are just such as every farmer, mechanic, merchant and professional man requires in the transacting of his daily business, and a knowledge of them not only gives a person confidence in his business ability but often saves him the price of tuition in a single transaction. Such a knowledge as this Institution imparts is a better legacy for a son, than houses, farms or gold, for these things may take wings and fly away; but a practical education will endure while life and reason exist. We are pleased to inform our patrons of the continued success of this College. Students are now coming in rapidly not only from different parts of the Province but also from the lower Province, and everything promises fair for a larger attendance during the coming Winter than ever before.

Canvassal Gazette July 21st 1894

ONTARIO COMMERCIAL COLLEGE.—We call the attention of our patrons to the advertisement in another column, of the above Institution, located at Belleville, Ont.

This College has grown within the past six years, from a small beginning, to be the leading Business School in Canada.

The subjects taught are just such as every man requires, no matter what his calling in life may be, and the Institution is under the supervision of a large staff of able and experienced teachers, so that those in attendance receive all necessary attention from competent and practical instructors.

The advantages this College has over those located in larger cities are, that board and other expenses attending students are fully one third less, those attending are exempt from many of the evil influences that beset them in large places, the attendance is consequently much larger and a better staff of teachers employed.

During the past winter the proprietors were necessitated to move into spacious apartments, in consequence of the extensive patronage received from all parts of this country and the United States, and now with an extensive hall, airy and commodious rooms, an improved and practical course of training and a large staff of able teachers, they announce better inducements than ever before. The Institution now boasts of over 1500 graduates, filling lucrative positions as Accountants, Telegraph Operators, or conducting a successful business for themselves.

We would advise those wishing a good business education to attend the above College.

ONTARIO COMMERCIAL COLLEGE.—We call the attention of our readers to the advertisement found in another column of the above College. The course of study comprises book-keeping, penmanship, arithmetic, business paper, correspondence, grammar, spelling, &c., and the advantages claimed over other business colleges are, a larger patronage, a better course of study, practical and competent teachers, and good boarding accommodations at from $2.50 to $3 per week. This institution carried off all first prizes in penmanship at the Provincial Exhibition, and from what we hear of, it is an excellent business training school.

Ottawa Citizen

ONTARIO COMMERCIAL COLLEGE.—This institution, located at Belleville, Ont., has grown within the past few years, from a small beginning, to be the most popular Business College in the country. In 1873 the increased patronage received caused the proprietors to move from the rooms first occupied in Harrison's building, to more spacious apartments. The increased attendance this season necessitated the recent opening of a department in Neilson's Hall, under the able management of F. L. Dorland, B. A., a former graduate, and late Head Master of the Russell County High School. There is now an actual attendance, in all departments, of over 1600 at day school, and over 50 at night school, making an aggregate of 2200 students, a number unprecedented in the history of the College. The Ontario Commercial College is now known throughout Canada for the thoroughness and practicality of its course, and the fact of a large number of those now in attendance having come from the eastern Provinces, the western counties of this Province and the United States, past other similar institutions, shows the preference and popularity of the Belleville Business College.

BOYS AND YOUNG MEN.—The evening sessions of the Ontario Commercial College, which begins to-night, will afford a good opportunity for those desirous of improving themselves in Arithmetic, Penmanship, Book-keeping, Spelling, Correspondence, &c.,—the very subjects required in daily business of any kind. We are glad to learn that a large number have already made applications for admittance to these classes, for there is no way in which boys and young men can be better employed during the long winter evenings. The terms are such as to place this opportunity within the reach of all and will no doubt, not only prove a great benefit, but save money to those attending, as it is during these hours between tea and bedtime that those occupied through the day spend most money. It is then that the shows and theatres are held, the drinking saloon tempts by its glitter of lights and glasses and companions without any to employ them, seeking recreation, step too far and invite friends with them. These classes will therefore serve the purpose of keeping boys and young men away from evil associations, and improving their time in the best possible manner. Those deficient through want of early opportunity need not feel embarrassed as they will receive individual attention at their seats.

ONTARIO COMMERCIAL COLLEGE.—We would call the particular attention of our readers to the advertisement in another column of the above college. From what we have learned of this institution it is a practical well-conducted business school. In consequence of boarding accommodation being so very cheap in Belleville, and young men being there exempt from many of the evil influences that beset them in larger cities, this institution is very largely patronized from all parts of the country, and Messrs. Beatty & Co. keep a thorough and competent staff of teachers, which maintain the reputation their college so richly deserves.

"Free Press" Ottawa

THE NIGHT SCHOOL at Ontario Business College opens this evening at half-past seven. We would advise all young men desirous of spending their evenings to good advantage to attend. The course of instruction is the same as that adopted in the largest Business College in Canada, with which this Institution is connected, and the teachers are live, practical and experienced men. The text books on Penmanship, Book-keeping and Commercial Arithmetic, issued by Mr. Beatty, the Principal of this College, are extensively used as reference books in our principal cities. The teachers of penmanship have again taken first prize the Provincial Exhibition, Hamilton, this year. As scholarships issued here are available in the Western branch. As competent instructors are in charge of each department, superior advantages are offered.

A SUCCESSFUL INSTITUTION.—Eight years ago Messrs. Beatty & Co. established a night school in this town for the instruction of young and middle-aged men in the essential branches of a commercial education, of which many stood greatly in need. Being thoroughly qualified to teach what they professed, and having a peculiar tact for imparting information in a pleasing and attractive manner, their school soon had a large attendance from the town and adjacent country. By degrees an enlargement was made until the modest night school merged into what is now known as Ontario Commercial College—the largest, most thorough and complete, and the best patronized institution of the kind in Canada. The attendance during the past year has been much larger than at any previous time, and the general success of the college was never more encouraging. We understand that Mr. Beatty has bought out the Ottawa Business College, which had found competition an impossibility, and intends opening a branch of his institution in that city. An efficient staff of teachers has already been employed and the intention is to make the Eastern institution as popular as the one so successfully conducted in this place. A system of inter-communication will be adopted, which will greatly facilitate the work of students and more readily familiarize them with the affairs of an actual business life. The whole course of instruction has been carefully and thoroughly revised, and everything done to place Ontario Commercial College in the van of such institutions and maintain the reputation it has already won.

COMMERCIAL COLLEGE, BELLEVILLE.—Mr S. G. Beatty, who has, during the past nine years, so successfully conducted the Ontario Business College, and, by unremitting labour and a wise adaptation of means, succeeded in making it the leading institution of the kind in Canada, has sold out his interests and will shortly remove to Toronto. He has, we believe, purchased a half share of the publishing business of Adam Miller & Co., and intends hereafter devoting all his time to the development of a trade for which he is specially qualified.—Bellefille Ontario.

Mr J. W. Johnson has secured an interest in the College along with Mr Robinson, who has been in the Institution for several years. The College is the leading one of the sort in Canada. Belleville is a very desirable place of residence for young men, and the College enjoys a high reputation. As Principal Mr Beatty was very popular. We join with the Ontario in wishing him success in his new undertaking.

Ontario Business College, Belleville.

We have received the Bellefille College Journal, published in the interests of the Ontario Business College, Belleville, an institution which enjoys the well-earned reputation of being one of the best in Canada. The number of young men who have received a first class training in it is large, many of whom occupy important positions in Banking and Business houses throughout the country, and who have borne cheerful testimony to the great advantages derived from an attendance thereat. Parents intending their sons for Commercial life would do their sons an incalculable benefit by sending them to such an institution before starting them out in life. The training received there is varied, embracing every branch of commercial life. Circulars can be obtained free on application to S. G. Beatty & Co., the proprietors.

The College Journal.

The ninth edition of 40,000 copies of the College Journal has been issued by the proprietors of the Ontario Business College, Belleville. The Journal, which is a neatly got up sheet of eight pages, was printed in the INTELLIGENCER job rooms, to which it does credit, being in every respect a good job. It is replete with information concerning the College, which is the largest and most thorough establishment of the kind in the Dominion, having the most numerous attendance of pupils and the strongest and most efficient staff of instructors, of any Commercial or Business College in Canada. Nine years ago the institution began its existence with only seven pupils, and during the first three months, but thirty-four enrolled their names. The excellence of the course of instruction was such, however, that public confidence became established, through the ability of the graduates, and complete success was secured as testified to by the fact that during the past winter two hundred and thirty students were in regular attendance, and over three thousand young men have received their education in the institution up to the present time, nearly all of whom are filling lucrative situations. This is something for the proprietors to be proud of, and the people of the town as well, as such an institution conduces in no small degree to our prosperity.

Although Mr. S. G. Beatty, the founder of the College and former Principal of the Actual Business Department, has retired from active connection with it, he retains a large proprietary interest, and exercises a general supervision. He has been succeeded by Mr. Jno. W. Johnson, a gentleman of talent, and a thoroughly competent instructor, associated with whom is Mr. W. B. Robinson, long connected with the institution and whose ability is well known. The staff of instructors remains the same, and in no department will there be a failure to keep up to the very highest standard of excellence.

We congratulate Messrs. S. G. Beatty & Co., on their success hitherto, of which their Journal is a pleasing manifestation, and we feel certain that equal, if not greater, prosperity awaits them in the future.

Copies of this Journal will be sent free on application to Messrs. Beatty & Co.

COLLEGE JOURNAL.—The Ontario Business College, of Belleville, has issued its annual Journal, containing much information of a miscellaneous character, and many facts of an exceedingly valuable nature. The College, from what we have read of it, and from what we know of it, is entitled, we have no hesitation in saying, to the favour and popularity in which it is held. Its faculty is composed of men of experience and ability, and young men graduating from it are possessed of a training which qualifies them for any of the walks of life. An education is imparted of the most practical and useful kind, and knowledge is granted within a few months which could not, under other circumstances, be gained in so many years. We know this to be so, because we have in this city young men who have taken a course in the College, and who to-day attribute their success in a very large measure to it. The institution has had many new features added to it, so that at the present time it stands unrivalled in the Province, as proficient as it is popular.

COLLEGE JOURNAL.—We have received a copy of the last (ninth) edition of the journal issued from the Ontario Business College, Belleville, of which Mr. S. G. Beatty is principal and business manager. It is very neatly issued, but the main thing is the amount of valuable information it contains both as regards the College and general subjects.

— A specimen copy of the 9th edition of "The Ontario College Journal," Belleville, has reached us. It is brimful of information respecting the course of studies, and other matters of interest to intending students. This College is under the superintendence of S. G. Beatty, Esq., and has been liberally patronized.

Ontario College.

This College, situated at Belleville, was started nine years ago, and the proprietors claim to have educated over 3000 young men during that time, many of whom are now filling important positions in different parts of the continent. We have received a copy of the College journal, containing important information for young men about entering business. Get a copy and read it. S. G. Beatty & Co., proprietors.

ONTARIO BUSINESS COLLEGE.—The thoroughly practical system of training students which is adopted by the Ontario Business College, of Belleville, cannot be too prominently brought before the public. Combined with its daily routine of studies, bona fide business transactions occur, in which money and merchandise are actually handled, so that the operations of the merchant and the duties of the counting-house, &c., are brought into splendid practice, thus blending its college exercises most admirably with mercantile life. This Business College has now been in existence nine years, during which period it has qualified over 3,000 young men for the duties of their varied callings in the world, nearly all of whom are either successful merchants, or filling lucrative positions as accountants, bank clerks, salesmen, or telegraph operators. Another very superior advantage which the Commercial College, of Belleville possesses is its fine location, which is easy of access by land or water, and combines the advantages of cheap rates of living with a healthy country residence. Its paramount qualification, however, is the excellency of its plan of education, which, we feel confident, will insure it an extensive patronage. Nov 25 1897

ONTARIO COMMERCIAL COLLEGE, BELLEVILLE.

This institution, the most thoroughly equipped and most successful Business College in Canada, makes a magnificent display of business and ornamental penmanship and pen and ink sketches. The exhibit is certainly the finest ever seen in Kingston, and shows what perfection Messrs. S. G. Beatty & Co. have attained in this department of their work. "Beatty's Guide to Elegant Writing," which is a self instructor in the art, and the "Canadian Accountant," the College text book in book-keeping, the authors of which are Messrs. S. G. Beatty and J. W. Johnson, Principals of the College, and the Ontario Commercial College pen, specially made for it, are shown by Mr. Johnson, who is in attendance, and whose time is fully occupied in giving information and the College Journal to the crowds of young men who are interested. Nov 25 1897

We would direct the attention of young people desirous of fitting themselves for a business life by obtaining a Commercial education, to read the advertisement of the Ontario Business College, published in our paper of today. The fame of this institution needs no laudation as hundreds of the best business young men throughout the Province is a sufficient testimony of the efficiency of its conductors.

The Midland Central Fair at Kingston opened on the 19th inst., and is said to be equal in most respects to that of previous years, and in some it was superior. From the report in the News, we copy some items of interest. Referring to the Ontario Commercial College, Belleville, the News says: "This Institution, the most thoroughly equipped and most successful Business College in Canada, makes a magnificent display of business and ornamental penmanship and pen and ink sketches. The exhibit is certainly the finest ever seen in Kingston, and shows what perfection Messrs. S. G. Beatty & Co. have attained in this department of their work. #### PENMANSHIP. London

In consequence of the closing of the London Commercial College and the loss of its magnificent displays it was feared that the exhibition in this department would be a meagre one. In this every person was agreeably disappointed. The place of Swayzer's College was ably filled by Beattie's Ontario College, Belleville. The specimens they showed were really beautiful and embraced every department of penmanship, from plain business writing to the highest class of ornamental. They deservedly carried off all the first prizes offered. In fact they had really no competition, as the specimens exhibited by the Hamilton College, and Jones's Commercial College only brought out the superior merits of the other. In racing parlance the Hamilton College came in a very bad second. The other exhibitors were nowhere. Nov 25 1897

We publish in another column the advertisement of the above long established and most successful Commercial College, and would strongly recommend young men to take its business course, which will fit them—as it has fitted hundreds in the past—to attain success and wealth. The Principal and teachers of the institution are practical accountants and business men, who have not acquired their knowledge merely by theory, but have gained it in actual business life, and to this feature of its teaching may be attributed the great success of, and demand for, its graduates. Nov 25 1897

Mr. Beatty's work on book-keeping and writing have become national, being sanctioned for the use of the public schools by the Minister of Education. The "Guide to Elegant Writing" has been prepared for the use of those who desire to become good penmen without the aid or expense of a teacher. ONTARIO BUSINESS COLLEGE, BELLEVILLE, ONT., S. G. BEATTY & CO., PROPRIETORS.—We refer our readers to the advertisement, in another column, of this Institution which is acknowledged to be the most thorough Business College in Canada. All young men should have a knowledge of the subjects which it teaches—book-keeping, arithmetic, business correspondence, grammar, and spelling; how to deal with notes, drafts and all kind of business paper, in short the whole ground of fitting young men to successfully conduct business for themselves or others. Farmers, mechanics and professional men need such knowledge as well as the business man, and to all classes we have pleasure in recommending the Ontario Business College, which during the ten years of its existence has trained hundreds of young men for business, who are now, through the possession of the knowledge therein acquired, filling good positions in the country. News May 16

Another highly important educational institution in Belleville is the Ontario Business College. From very small beginnings, this Institution has grown until it has attained the proud distinction of being the most largely attended of the numerous Business Schools in Canada. The course of instruction, which is thorough, and looked after by a very careful and experienced staff, embraces all the commercial branches, including actual business, penmanship and telegraphing. Hundreds of the graduates of this College can be found filling positions in Canada and in the United States, and the fame of the school is such that students are drawn from all parts of the Dominion and from the United States as well. The people of Belleville have reason to be proud of the Ontario Business College, which the energy and enterprise of Messrs. S. G. Beatty & Co. established in the face of great difficulties, and which they continue to conduct so successfully. Intelligencer

THE COMMERCIAL COLLEGE.—In our historical sketch of Belleville, published lately, we referred with pride to the City's Educational Institutions, and to the reputation which they enjoy throughout the Dominion, as evidenced by the attendance of students from all parts of the country. In this connection we note in a report of the proceedings of the Board of Education of the Town of Peterborough, as published in the Examiner, that on the appointment of a teacher of penmanship and book-keeping for that town it was stipulated, by the Board that the appointee should take a course at the Ontario Commercial College, Belleville. Intelligencer Jan 15/98

THE appointment of special teachers of penmanship and book-keeping to public schools is becoming general. We notice in a report of the proceedings of the Peterborough Board of Education in the Examiner, that to be successful in obtaining the position of teacher of these branches in that town, the candidate is required to take a course at the Ontario Commercial College, Belleville. This is highly complimentary to one of our most celebrated local institutions. Belleville News May 16/98

They are pleased to notice a marked improvement in the display in the fine art department, in oil and water-color paintings and drawings, in the fine display of photographs—which certainly would compare favorably with the best productions of the larger cities—and for crayon drawing, pen-and-ink sketches, and plain and ornamental penmanship exhibited by the Belleville Commercial College, an Institution which is decidedly popular, and is conferring an immense benefit upon the community; and we are glad to know that many of our farmers are taking the opportunity thus afforded, by educating their sons to positions of usefulness and honor. News May 7/98

The chief display made in this department is by S. G. Beatty & Co., of the Ontario Commercial College, Belleville. They have taken first prize in both business and ornamental penmanship, and judging by the crowds of visitors which are continually examining the specimens, and asking for the College Journal, which is given away, the public endorse the decision of the judges. The "Canadian Accountant," the text book of the college, written by the principals, and "Beatty's Guide to Elegant Writing," a self-instructor in the art, are also on exhibition.
